MARK PYLE

Beware the Ides of March!

I had heard this historic warning of troubling times to come. Then, sitting alone at a high-top table in the fireplace room on that fateful day came our Governor's decree — social distancing will not suffice — close all bars and restaurants by 9:00 pm tonight... and we did. So not only were we dealt a devastating blow early in the month, losing a good friend and our most recent Commodore, Donald Dick, we are now faced with managing through a once in a lifetime Coronavirus pandemic. I am personally saddened by Don's untimely and unexpected passing. I know Peggy, his family, and friends miss him dearly.

I am very fortunate that my Board and our Trustees are a resilient lot who have endured the turmoil generated by our previous Governor's emergency dam decree which placed the Club in peril for several years. As mentioned before, the health and safety of our members and employees are paramount and we will continue to manage the Club with that in mind during these uncertain times. However, we always have the duty of assuring that there is ultimately a Club to manage and financial stewardship rises to a higher priority the longer the Club is shut down for an indeterminable time frame. Our Finance Committee continues to monitor our cash position and is in the process of prioritizing expenses that can be cut or minimized and expenditures that can be delayed as we move further into the uncharted waters.

We are very pleased that Commodore Mark Russell has agreed to fill the open Trustee seat as his knowledge and insight will nicely complement the other four Trustees. It didn't take long for our new General Manager, Rodney Probst, to be challenged with difficult times, but his positive attitude along with his proactive, collaborate management approach has our staff on track. We also said goodbye to Paul Eblin in March as he opted for a career change and we wish Paul all the best in his new position.

Here at Buckeye Lake, as the lake level continues to rise and we move into the spring, our hope is that we can experience an enjoyable boating season, see a return to normal Club operations, and celebrate summer with our BLYC family. We are committed to meeting this challenge and our plan is to communicate as often as possible to share what we know and when changes are happening. Thus far you, our members, have been especially supportive of this Board's actions and I greatly appreciate the cooperation and encouragement we have received. Let's continue to walk together as we weather another storm and take comfort in the message of Gerry and the Pacemakers...

*Walk on through the wind
Walk on through the rain
Though your dreams be tossed and blown
Walk on, walk on
With hope in your heart
And you'll never walk alone*

April... Maybe not the change we were looking for!

Just when it looked like winter was finally over and spring would bring higher lake levels and fun, our country was struck by a once-in-a-lifetime pandemic necessitating the closing of our restaurant and bar operations and, essentially, shutting off all our typical social activities at the lake. Where this is going and how long it will last is likely anybody's guess.

However, as one of our Past Commodores said when the dam situation arose five years ago, "This Club has survived two World Wars, Prohibition, the Great Depression and countless other challenges. We will survive this too!" And... we will.

As you are all aware the Ohio Department of Health has ordered all bars & restaurants to close with the exception of carry-out service. I am pleased to say that even before the order came down, Rodney and his staff had a plan in place and were ready to go. We are offering "Curbside To-Go" service daily, Wednesday through Sunday, as long as we are able and can get product to serve you. Please support your Club during this difficult time. Not only is it vital for our future, it is also extremely important for our staff. One of the best things about our Club is how much our staff is truly a part of our BLYC family. While we are trying to offer them as many hours as possible, even those who are working will have fewer hours due to the change in operation. This is a hardship on them. Please support our Curbside To-Go initiative and do your part to help. Many members have expressed an interest in donating to help the staff get through these difficult times. The Finance Committee, Rodney, and I are looking into ways to make this possible. Please follow the weekly e-News for the latest information and, on behalf of our valued employees, THANK YOU in advance.

TOGETHER we'll get through this!

Spring has sprung at BLYC!

I don't know about you, but I am ready for spring! I am ready for a full pool and for boating season to begin. Let it rain! April is another month of fun at BLYC.

On Friday April 10th, we have a newcomer to BLYC. The Acoustic Super Friends will play for Supper Club from 7:00-10:00 pm. The Acoustic Super Friends are one of Central Ohio's premier acoustic acts. They will sing popular music from the 1960's to the 2000's. You can check them out at AcousticSuperFriends.com or on Facebook.

The Kay Carter Band will be returning to BLYC on April 17th. This jazz ensemble is a must see. She will be playing Supper Club from 7:00-10:00 pm. On April 18th, the Auxiliary is sponsoring a painting party. Reservations are required and the fee is only $10.

Spring work day is on April 19th. Please plan to help get the Club ready for the summer months. Many hands make light work.

Cat and Howard Karaoke will return on Friday April 24th. The guest singer will be James Toland of the Hip Replacements. On Saturday, April 25th, please join us for the annual Commodore's Ball. Be ready for an evening of wonderful food prepared by Chef Josh and the wonderful sounds from The Lords of Literature. This is always an evening to remember!

Now that old man winter has packed his bags and has moved on, your Club is going to be the place to be this summer. There will be lots of fun events and great music this summer.

In May, we will have a Kentucky Derby Party on May 2nd. Memorial Day weekend will be packed full of music and the pool opens! Stay tuned for more events and great music coming to BLYC!

Cheers!

RACE & REGATTA

- Governor David Paligo

Time flies like an arrow, fruit flies like a banana...

Article II of our CONSTITUTION BY-LAWS and RULES states:

The object of the Club shall be the promotion of yachting and aquatic sports, cultivation of sociability among its members and the improvement of Buckeye Lake for boating purposes.

Buckeye Lake Yacht Club has been pushed and tugged in several directions over the years and the Board, while trying new ideas - some that worked and some that did not - have stayed true to the original concept. The basic premise is that the Club is made up of a group of individuals working together to promote and help improve sailboat racing and offers a venue for the sport. Over time the individual One-Design & PHRF Fleets have expanded, changed or fallen away depending on the effort the members put into promoting their model of boat.

There are several changes to the format of some of our annual events, some new races, cruising and boating events that show a deliberate commitment to invite new people to our community and get more folks to come out and show support for our Grow-the-Sport vision.

Race & Regatta is designed with sailing & racing in mind, yet there are many power boaters, kayak and paddle board members in this club and we need to address some other activities for these groups.

One person cannot do this by themselves, we need new volunteers to take on some of these activities and bring back some of these social events that got lost when the lake was down. Your feedback is imperative to let us know if members are interested in any of these activities. I promise, if you volunteer, I will NOT leave you hanging out there by yourself.

Here are some ideas...

- Kayak / Paddle Board Obstacle Course
- Power / Pontoon Boat Challenge Course
- Cardboard Boat Races
- Bob Dye Poker Run
- Summer Solstice Raft-Up
- Autumn Boat Cruise

HOUSE & GROUNDS

- Rear Commodore Charlie Campbell

It's like just yesterday that I wrote my March article. Now it's April's letter that I am preparing. Time moves forward no matter how much we sometimes wish it would stand still.

I must reflect first on the passing of Don Dick, our past Commodore, a friend, a person who wore plaid shirts and wrinkled pants, old shoes with white socks. But this persona was just Don. Pretentious he was not. He gave more to the club than money. His leadership and abilities to make improvements moved the club forward. He is missed.

By now, all members have heard about the COVID-19 or the Coronavirus. The club's Board and Trustees will continue to monitor the recommendations of the CDC, WHO, State of Ohio, and local authorities on what to do for the best for our club. Our Commodore has taken steps to ensure the safety of our members, guests, employees, and delivery personnel. Please keep reading the weekly e-News and club e-mails for the latest updates and information. Our House & Grounds staff is working to keep the Club as clean as can be. Do what you feel is best for your family when it comes to attending any event, whether at the Club or any other venue.

The Army Corps of Engineers has our request for the permit to rebuild our rear basin docks. When doing the seawall around the pool area, it took four months from them receiving the request until approval. Hopefully they will move a little quicker?

Although the gates to the docks will be operational by Saturday, March 28, they will remain tied open. This was not in our operational plan but it's for the safety of our members during the Corona outbreak. When you see them closed there will be no code at first. After a few weeks of opening and keeping the doors CLOSED a door code will be distributed and implemented. All that is asked is you, as a member, is to keep the code within your family — it's for your protection.

The new office will be put to full use soon. Rebecca and Rodney will have the needed space to do their jobs easier. We are planning to improve the old office to better suit the junior sailors and club youth.

I attended the class, "Introduction to Race Committee" led by P/C Steve Harris. The class was informative, direct to the point of subject, and encouraged those in attendance to help with the Club's sailing objectives for the 2020 season.

You have been repeatedly reminded that we will start using the entrance gate combo-locks soon. Soon will begin April 11th, 2020. At first you just have to open the door and shut it. After a few weeks we will add the combination lock.

The combination will be sent to all through email or other club information channels.

Euchre was a success!

We had a mixture of more than two dozen different people participating this year. Our winners each week varied and it was great to spread out the excitement. Thank you to Tom & Patti Greiner for volunteering their time every Sunday. I am glad we all got together.

For the women who have an interest, (Men, there are others who will accommodate you) I have a sailboat lined up for us to use. We will be able to get on the water, learn about sailing and have a marvelous time. Sailing is a great sport and I am looking forward to sharing it with you. I will share more details later but in the interim if you have any questions or wish to let me know of your interest please feel free to email me blychein@gmail.com

As always if you have a picture or a story to tell, please share with me. I look forward to talking with you soon.

FINANCE COMMITTEE

We've nearly completed seven months of our fiscal year and we had been on track to meet all our budget and spending objectives for the year. With the coronavirus shutdown, we are now in the process of creating an interim bridge budget to account for the successful first half of the year and project what we can expect going forward. We are taking a closer look at costs that can be minimized or eliminated along with those expenditures that can be delayed.

To the extent that the federal or state government offers financial support to small businesses during these trying times, we will evaluate the programs available with the intent of taking advantage the offerings that make sense for BLYC and our members.

Members can greatly help our financial condition through the timely payment of their outstanding bar and kitchen bills. In addition, for the few members who haven't paid their dues in full, you are not considered members in good standing and are not entitled to dock or member charge privileges. Please get these dues balances paid off or make arrangements to make payments. Remember that the Club adds a service charge to overdue account balances.

How about some Good News?

Seriously, it seems like, lately, all we hear when we turn on the news is troublesome — and rightfully so. That said, this crisis will subside and, as has always been the case — for over a century — the intrepid spirit of BLYC and her members will persevere!

WE HAVE DOCKS AVAILABLE!

Yes, my friends, boating season is just around the corner and, by all accounts, life should be getting back to normal by the onset of summer. I, for one, don't plan on missing any more of my favorite season of the year than is absolutely necessary! If you need dockage for the upcoming season, please fill out the request online via the BLYC website, or reach out to me and we'll get you fixed up. We still have dockage available for the 2020 season and you don't want to miss out - by time the season kicks off, we're going to need it!

Amy & I pray that our members and friends are safe and stay well during this difficult time and encourage you to heed the warnings from our scientists and leaders.

Together, we will get through this!

LOOKING AFT

- P/C Steve Harris, BLYC Historian

Foul Weather

Reflecting on our current situation, this month we offer the following excerpts from Commodore Armstrong's 1956 Story of Buckeye Lake. Barely ten years in existence, BLYC faced one of its greatest challenges... WAR!

Only four days following a seemingly unbearable boost in rent, the Club faced its first really seriously challenging prospect. One big, black, solid cloud hung heavily over Buckeye Lake. But such apparition was not peculiar to this area alone. The entire country lay awed in the gloom of that same darkening overcast.

Great black headlines spread across tops of front pages of newspaper "extras" throughout the land on this 6th day of April, 1917. Late that afternoon, President Woodrow Wilson had signed a joint congressional resolution declaring existence of a "state of war" between the United States of America and the Central Powers of Europe. Although war clouds of increasing omen had been hovering over this country for several years, neither the nation nor the Club were in anyway substantially prepared to meet emergencies of this appalling situation. Patriotically, and of necessity, the Club's program was geared to the country's mobilization for and prosecution of hostilities. In some ways this adjustment was more evident during the preparatory than in the combat period of this Great War. In general, its effect on the Club was more deterring than impelling.

From its beginning, BLYC not only had been a man's club but one largely of younger men. Many of its members were unmarried or had wives but no children. And most of these yachtsmen possessed qualifications required for men in warfare. So, quickly at first and then more gradually, the armed services absorbed a considerable number of the Club's members, and many others who would have been likely prospects for keeping the Club's ranks filled. Club members identified with the National Guard soon were encamped with their units. Others enlisted in the services. With registration on June 5th and selection beginning on July 20th, still others were taken away by conscription, then and throughout the duration of the conflict. Some older members of the Club volunteered and were accepted for duties as officers, in and out of combat services, and others, whose duties became involved in war production efforts, found it expedient to curtail or forego their participation in the Club's activities.

Obviously, the Club suffered because of such losses. But, of course, many of those so lost were the greater sufferers. Recognizing the sacrifices of members in armed service, the Governors of the Club amended its by-laws to provide for remission of their dues during periods of such duties. (a practice that continues to this day) Losing much of its younger and some of its more colorful older blood, and in respect to the seriousness of warfare, the Club's 12th season under Commodore Burnham was practically devoid of spectacular events and gay functions. For those left in the fold, activities largely were restricted to such as just plain sailing and to quiet and hopeful social intercourse. With shortages in available sugar and certain other foods, banquets were impracticable. And war use demands for gasoline appreciably silenced motorboat traffic.

Fortunately, however, interurbans continued to carry passengers to and from the Lake. Wives and sweethearts of members in the services soon were accorded special dispensation. They were welcomed to the Club's premises as though in company of their husbands and lovers. Fortunately too, many others were brought along with much more frequency than before. Presence of "the ladies" tended to offset losses of attendance by those to whom the Club had been denied, and helped to keep the place alive.

The Club's financial income was reduced by remission of dues and almost no collection of initiation fees from new members. There was scarcely sufficient for it to pay rent to keep a roof over its head and to meet expenses of necessary utilities. To conserve its resources, most tasks of maintenance and operation were performed by members.

In September of 1917, Commodore Burnham relinquished the helm to Bill Frisbie and Charley Fast became the Club's secretary. By this time, American forces finally were embarking for overseas duties. By summer, a faint glimmer of what might be victory was appearing at the very horizon. With an evident though remote break in the fifteen month long overcast, BLYC ventured out in the open with publicised activity. On Thursday, July 4th, 1918, American Independence and assurance of victory were celebrated by the Club with a "Water Carnival" featuring contests and exhibitions of plain and fancy swimming and diving.

On Sunday, September 24th, 1918, Commodore Frisbie and his staff were reelected for another year of leadership in the Club. On Monday, November 11th, Germany surrendered, the armistice taking effect at 11:00 am, the Stars and Stripes waved victoriously!

After 20 months of its persistent shadow, the overcast suddenly had dissipated. Again the sun shone over Buckeye Lake, the Club, the Nation, and the World. With the shooting over, the Club headed back toward normal. On December 27th, 1918, it held a "Peace and Reconstruction Banquet." By opening of the Club's 1919 season, some of the boys were straggling back from "over there." Many, when returning to the Lake, were accompanied regularly by their womenfolk. That way, they could reenter and enter family life without foregoing pleasures of the Club. Wartime experiences seemed to have aged or sobered the Club, at least temporarily. In this first post-war season, greater interest appeared in the more casual, regular, weekly activities than in high-pressured ones of holidays.

Just as it was over a century ago and on several occasions since — most recent in our memory being the dam remediation — BLYC has survived, and will survive this challenge too. While this will be difficult, we will, as we always have, adjust, adapt and look forward to the return of better days... and maybe a "Water Carnival." Why not?
